Course Objectives	This course aims to enhance students' career planning, personal development, and sectoral knowledge. It is designed to equip students with skills that will prepare them for the business world and academia, enabling them to stand out in their future career journeys. Covering a wide range of topics—from career center services to national and international exchange programs—the course supports students in actively participating in both professional and academic sectors, while also contributing to the development of their personal competencies. It enables students to discover their own potential and make strategic plans as they take steps toward their targeted career paths.
Course Content	This course offers a comprehensive content aimed at enhancing career development and personal competencies. Starting with the services and visions provided by career centers, the course continues with fundamental concepts such as career planning, career management, and career paths. While discovering their knowledge, skills, talents, and competencies, students are equipped with course content that helps them better understand their personal characteristics. Additionally, through sectoral introductions, they gain insights into various fields such as the public sector, private industry, and academia. The course helps students acquire many essential competencies, from presentation techniques to time management, stress management to leadership skills. By learning about exchange programs, scholarship opportunities, and national/international collaborations, students are able to create a strategic roadmap for their careers. This course aims to contribute to the development of future leaders and professionals as well-equipped individuals.
